You can't perform that action at this time. You signed in with another tab or window. Reload to refresh your session. You signed out in another tab or window. Reload to refresh your session. pdfmake permits to easily create a PDF with JavaScript; however there is no support of HTML code, so I decided to create a module to handle this feature. Online Demo You can find the online demo at How to use This module will convert some basic and valid HTML code to its equivalent in pdfmake. Node npm install html-to-pdfmake var htmlToPdfmake = require("html-to-pdfmake"); // or: // import htmlToPdfmake from "html-to-pdfmake" Example: var pdfMake = require("pdfmake/build/pdfmake"); var pdfFonts = require("pdfmake/build/vfs_fonts"); pdfMake.vfs = pdfFonts.pdfMake.vfs; var htmlToPdfmake = require("html-to-pdfmake"); var html = htmlToPdfmake('My title This is a sentence with a bold word, one in italic, and one with underline. And finally a link. '); /* it will return: { stack: [{ text: 'My title', fontSize: 24, bold: true, marginBottom: 5, style: ['html-h1'] }, { text: [{ text: 'This is a sentence with a ', { text: 'bold word', bold: true, style: ['html-strong'] }, { text: ', ' }, { text: 'one in italic', italics: true, style: ['html-em'] }, { text: ', and ' }, { text: 'one with underline', decoration: 'underline', style: ['html-u'] }, { text: '. And finally ' }, { text: 'a link', color: 'blue', decoration: 'underline', link: ' ', style: ['html-a'] }, { text: '.' }], margin: [0, 5, 0, 10], style: ['html-p'] }, style: ['html-div'] } */ Browser
